How you can take on the Northern Challenge Series

Pre-defined flying tasks - great fun and valuable for your development as a pilot

Ed Cleasby on the Northern Challenge Series

Richard Bungay on setting and flying with instruments.

Come and join your flying mates for an informative and social evening. No entry fee. The Northern Challenge Series, set up by Ed Cleasby, is designed for ALL level of pilot regardless of experience, aspiration, and ambition. Many pilots have made use of the pre-defined tasks for developing their skills or as a personal challenge, but mainly for FUN.

If you have never flown a defined task, or have not yet attempted this series, or if you have already attempted some of the tasks and would like to hear how to improve your score, this talk is for you. Ed Cleasby will cover the aims, structure, and evaluation of the NCS, plus how to set about tackling specific tasks. You can read more about the series, its aims, and the rules here

For pilots not yet familiar (or confident!) with setting up tasks in their instrument, Richard Bungay will talk on

- Downloading tasks to instruments
- Using instruments during flight to fly a task
- Downloading and submitting a tracklog.
